

NEW ZOOM SERIES

FOOD FOR THOUGHT - LUNCH TIME INVITATION

Faith actors share their experiences in advancing women's rights in faith spaces

On March 18th, 12:30 TINA KLEIBER chats with ZILKA SPAHIC-SILJAK, Muslim theologian and peace leader from Bosnia & Herzegovina and LANA BOBIC, Christian theologian from Croatia. Both are grantees of the Bread for the World partner organisation Ecumenical Women's Initiative.

"We want to raise the visibility of faith actors who are change agents and potential 'bridge builders' able to foster cross-sectoral alliance building for gender justice", says Tina Kleiber, women's rights advisor at Bread for the World about the new lunch time zoom series Food for Thought. Organised by the 'Faith and Feminism Collective', three lunchtime sessions (12:30-13:15) have already been planned:

- March 18th with Lana Bobic and Zilka Spahic-Siljak
- May 6th
- June 10th

'The Faith and Feminism Collective' emerged from the Workshop on Shrinking Space and Gender in 2020. The aim is to present faith actors to a wider audience and foster networking and exchange.
